*“To me, soul music
is anything that is made from the heart,
and therefore moves
the listener”*

– Sunny Ozell

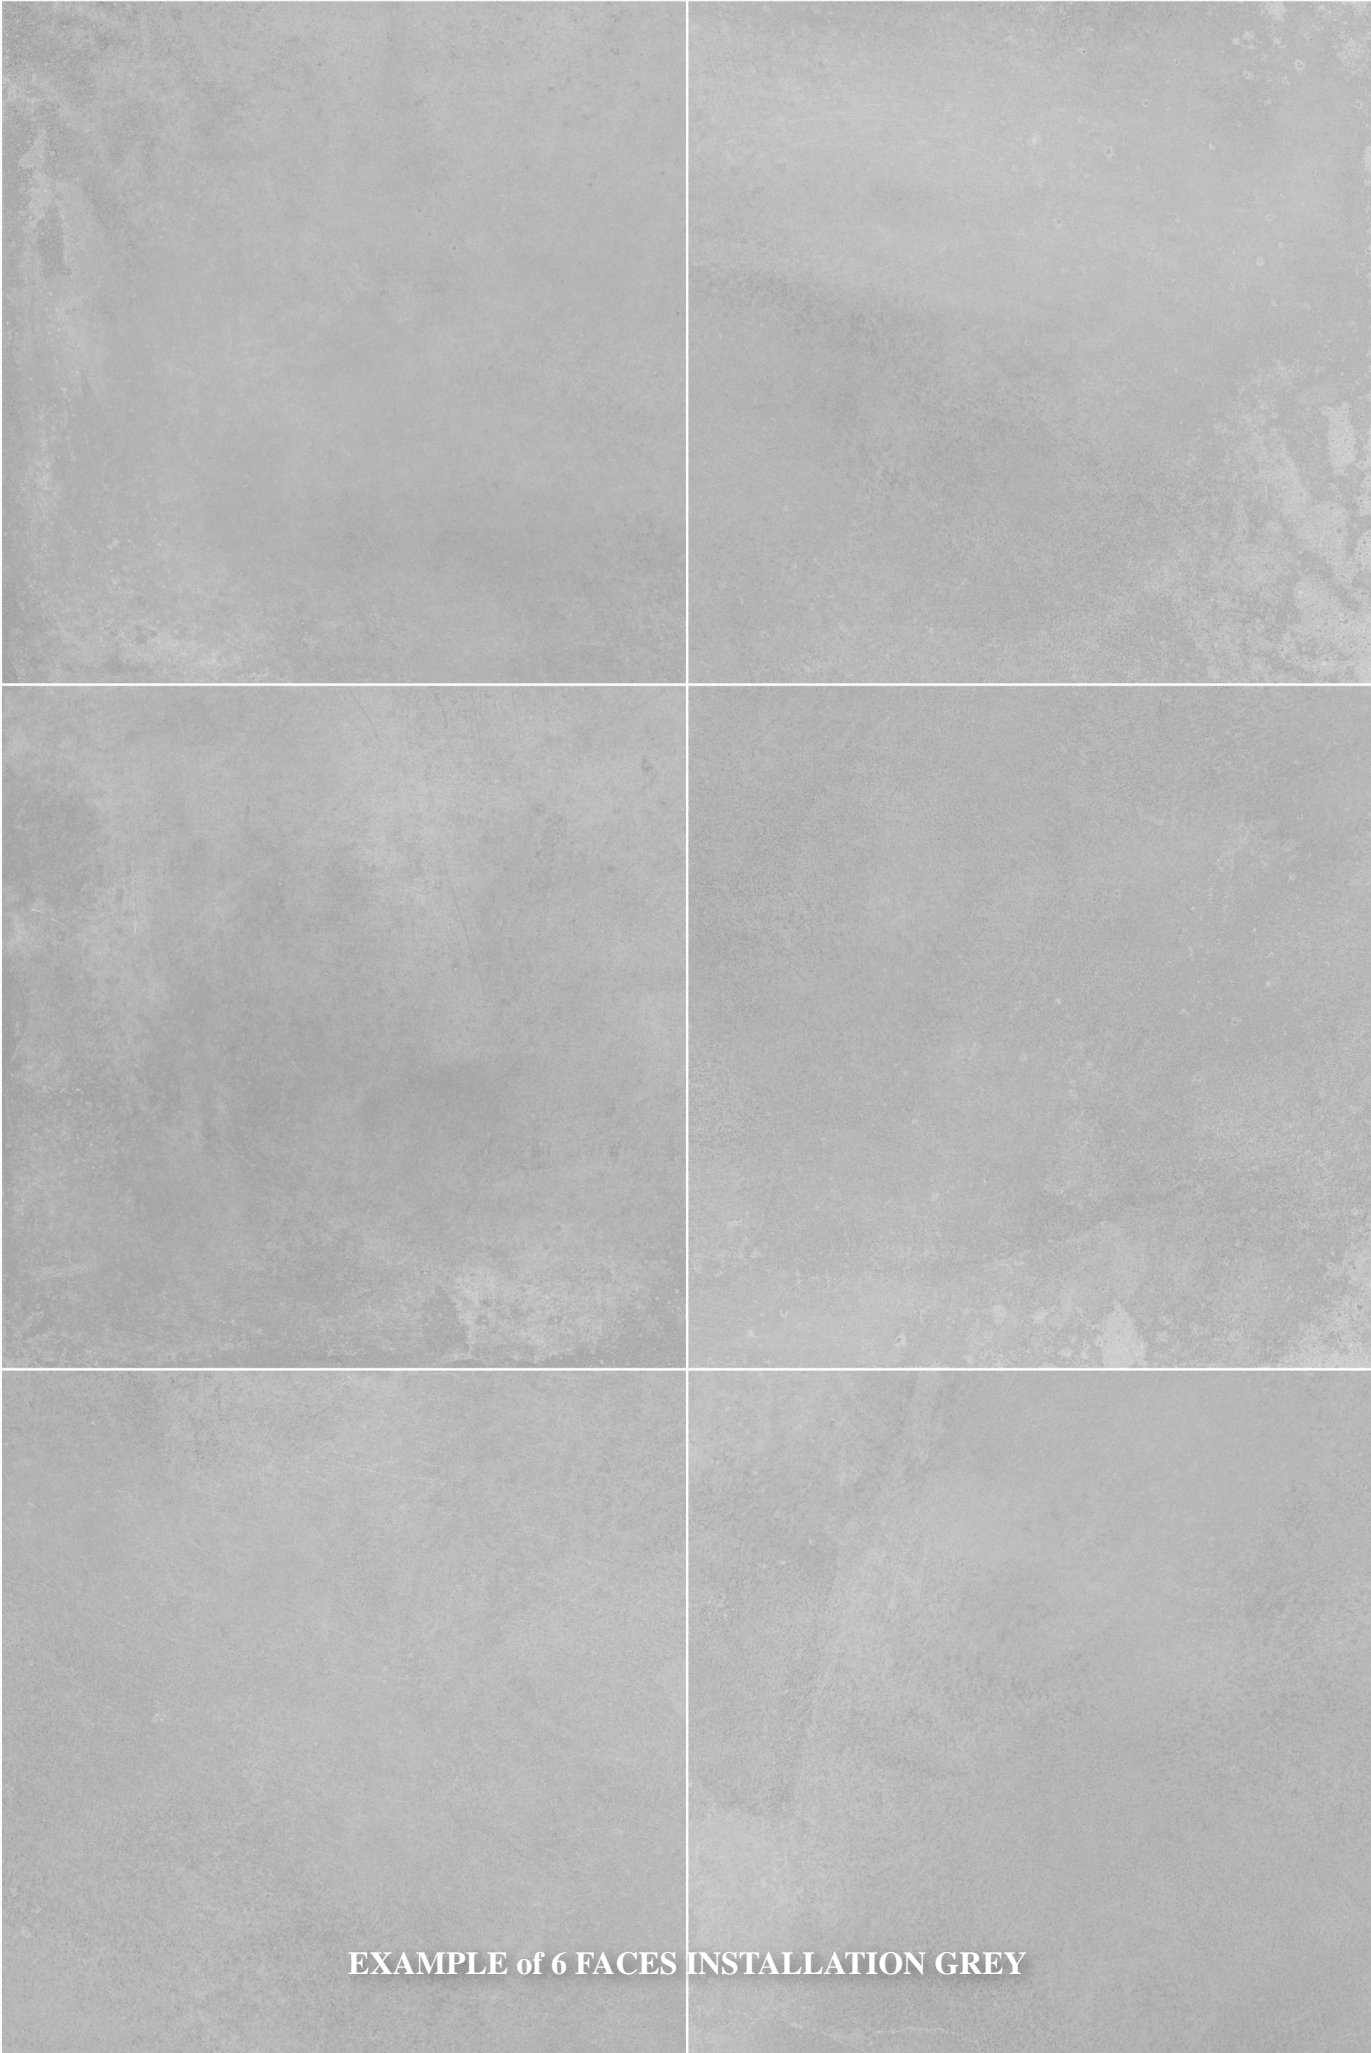

Intense, loud, energetic and big – all of this and even more can be used to describe the beauty, the grandiosity of Soul music, the way it awakens the body and spirit, how it creates a flow of energy that is able to reach the innermost part of ourselves, touching our very souls. Often associated with the rise of social rights movements in the USA, it’s thought that the blend of vocals and harmonies of different kinds genres represent the need to blend cultures that had been so far kept separated. A collection of rhythms that combined to create their very own, unique style, Soul music is considered the foundation of some of the most beloved contemporary music genres, and its importance cannot be denied.

The Soul collection wants to remind the onlookers of older times, when black and white was the defining key of visual arts, creating a neutral background that allowed music to flow and fill the eyes with its own intangible colors and shapes. Made to be a timeless backdrop, it fits perfectly in every space, blending seamlessly with any style and color.
